

OPaL at Asia Petrochemical Industry Conference 2019

2019 edition of The Asia Petrochemical Industry Conference (APIC) was held in Taipei, Taiwan on 16th – 17th May and organized by the Petrochemical Industry Association of Taiwan (PIAT). The theme of the conference was “Smart Petrochemical Processes---Sustainable Solutions Enabling a Better World”. OPaL representatives attended different session of Chemical and petrochemical business which provided valuable information and shared issues of common concern, and most of all, it provided an excellent business networking platform for industry professionals from around the world from Chemicals and polymers industry.

Asia Petrochemical Industry Conference (APIC) was originally founded in 1979 by the petrochemical associations in East Asia – Japan Petrochemical Industry Association (JPCA), Korea Petrochemical Industry Association (KPIA) and Petrochemical Industry Association of Taiwan (PIAT). Over the last two decades, the responsibility to host the annual conference had been equally shared by each member of the founding association on a rotational basis. APIC has been an effective avenue in facilitating exchange of valuable information, sharing issues of common concern, and moreover, serving as an excellent platform in networking global professionals who are interested in the Asian petrochemical industry and business.
